

EiLE - Foreign Languages Editions (new)ITALIAN COMMUNIST PARTY

The revival of the communist movement is an international event. Revisionism has been an international degeneration of the communist movement, it affected some universal aspects of the communist movement; its universal success is based on the limits of the former communist movement. The revival of the communist movement can happen only as an international phenomenon even if it comes out in different times and forms for different countries. Going beyond universal limits, even if it only concerns small states, is concerning the whole world and this is some contribution to the international communist movement. Hence with this analysis the new PCI consider it is necessary:

1. to learn from the outside and deal out in Italy each success of the outside communist movement
2. to spread out in what way the Italian Communist Movement can help the communists of other countries
3. to support in each country the efforts of Communists in order to rebuild new communist parties based upon Marxism-Leninism-Maoism or strengthen those already existing.

In order to positively perform these tasks, the Provisional Commission of the Central Committee of the new PCI has set up since 2001 the Edizioni in Lingue Estere (EiLE) [Edition in Foreign language] starting to publish documents in French, Spanish and English. In order to receive the material published by EiLE you may get in touch with the Delegation of the Provisional Commission by writing to:

The (new) Italian Communist Party presents its Manifesto Program to world Communists, parties and organizations of the communist movement. Here the (n)PCI exposes its balance of the more than 150 years old history of the international communist movement, its analysis of the international situation, the general line and the strategy leading it in its work for making Italy a new socialist country and so contributing to the second wave of proletarian revolution advancing all over the world.

The Revolutionary Protracted People's War (RPPW) is the strategy of the (n)PCI. In the Manifesto Program the Party distinguishes between the universal laws of RPPW and the particular ones, valid for the socialist revolution in Italy and in other imperialist countries.

Manifesto Program of the (new) Italian Communist Party

Introduction

Chapter I

The class struggle during the first 160 years of the communist movement and the present conditions

Chapter II

The communist movement in Italy

Chapter III

The communist party struggle for making Italy a new socialist country

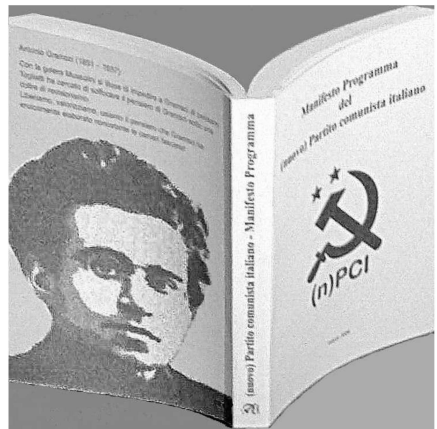

Chapter IV

Program for the socialist phase

Chapter V

Principal objection to our Manifesto Program

Notes for the study of the Manifesto Program

The English version of the Manifesto Program of the (new) Italian Communist Party is available on Party website
